STEPHEN J. CABOT – PROFILE

Steve Cabot, acknowledged as “probably the best management-labor [expert] in the world” (Toronto Star), has dedicated his career to creating a more positive work environment in companies of all sizes and in all sectors of the economy, even in the face of entrenched union opposition and governmental intrusion.

As an active attorney for over 35 years, he demonstrated a level of effectiveness in tough negotiations and successful labor litigation that led him to be recognized as “the winningest management-labor lawyer in the United States.” Today, as an international consultant, he continues to compile an impressive record of helping clients identify and solve a wide range of sensitive and potentially destructive workforce issues.

Twice each year, Steve Cabot tours the United States with his acclaimed LABOR STRATEGY SURVIVAL SEMINAR, demonstrating to managers across the country how a proactive approach to labor relations can increase productivity and workplace harmony, while reducing the prospects of expensive litigation.

Steve Cabot is also one of this country's most powerful and sought-after motivational speakers. He offers his audiences an intriguing and compelling strategic vision for the new millennium – and a practical plan for achieving it.

Known for his candor and insight, Steve Cabot appears regularly in a wide variety of media. He has been featured in such major business publications as Forbes, Fortune, U.S. News & World Report, and Business Week. He was the first management-labor attorney profiled on the front page of The Wall Street Journal. His views are sought routinely by such national television shows as “Face the Nation,” “Nightline,” “The Today Show,” and “The News Hour with Jim Lehrer,” as well as the major network evening news programs.

Steve Cabot has testified before labor-related Senate subcommittee hearings, has lectured before diverse audiences, and has been published widely on labor law and labor relations. His best-selling book, EVERYBODY WINS!, is considered a “must-read” by executives nationwide.

Mr. Cabot has been honored by his inclusion in a wide array of Who's Who publications for national and international business leaders.
